

Sing to the tune of "Why Do Fools Fall In Love?"

"Why do I not feel so gay?
And why do these jail walls look so gray?
Why do I drink and drive?
Guess I should've just had green tea
Instead I've got a high B.A.C.
Why do I drink and drive?"

This someone may have saved someone's life!

TUCSON, early Monday on suspicion of drunken driving, police said.

A breath test showed the pop diva with a blood-alcohol level of 0.20 percent, more than twice the legal limit of 0.08 percent, Tucson police Sgt. Judy Altieri said.

Police pulled Ross over after someone alerted them to a swerving vehicle, Altieri said. She added that the arresting officer said Ross was polite and cooperative.

Ross, 58, received misdemeanor citations for driving under the influence; driving with a blood-alcohol content over 0.08; and extreme DUI, or having a blood-alcohol level greater than 0.15 percent. Her initial court appearance was set for January 13.

After arresting Ross, police gave her a ride to where she was staying, Altieri said.

Ross' Los Angeles-based publicist, Paul Bloch, had no immediate comment, his office said.

Ross entered a Malibu, California, drug and alcohol rehabilitation center in May to deal with what Bloch at the time said were personal issues.
